How are YOU feeling?

This week is mental Health Awareness Week, with a focus on Nature. In assemblies this week, we talked about the five ways to wellness: take notice, connect, give, be active and keep learning.

I spoke with the children about the words 'happy' and 'sad' and explained how we, as adults, are much better placed to support and help the children if they are able to express how they are feeling using a wider range of emotion words. What has MADE you happy/sad? Are you astonished? Devastated? Disappointed? Embarrassed? Confused? Excited? I challenged the children to use words, other than happy and sad, to explain their emotions. How many different emotion words can you think of as a family?

I'm sure the weather will SOON begin to get a little warmer and with this in mind, a reminder that we have lots of lovely summer dresses and grey shorts for only 50p each in the front porch of the school. Leave your money in the PTA tub and ensure only one family bubble at a time in this area please. Come and grab some good quality bargains!

Mathletics!

Well done to everyone who has logged in to Mathletics to practise their maths skills ...

The Class R Mathletics buzz continues this week with both Harriet and Flores showing enthusiasm and accuracy in their scores. Well done children!

A newsletter shout out goes to Year 1 for appearing on the class leader board this week—keep up the good work Year 1!

Can you AND your class make it to the leader board next week?

Priceless Playtimes!

Who has been a great ambassador this week in upholding our school motto of "Be brave, be kind, belong" ?

We are shining a spotlight on positive behaviour from the children in Class R this week.

THANK YOU and WELL DONE to:

Maddox for playing so thoughtfully with his friends.

Flores and Harper for entertaining the class so brilliantly.

Who will stand out in demonstrating these values next week?
